

Options of Disinclined Business Men.
I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule, too, to advertise in the fullest manner, a long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out; as by keeping my business constantly before the public, has secured me many sales that I otherwise would have lost.

—Stephen Girard.
"Whatever success I may have had in business I owe mainly to continuous advertising, and I deem it good policy to advertise long in the same paper. From a close observation, I am fully convinced that it is impossible to make much headway in any branch of commerce, without the facilities which the Press alone can give."

—Jacob Edgway.
"My motto through life has been—work and advertise. In business, advertising is the true philosopher's stone, that turns whatever it touches to gold. I have advertised much, both in the weekly as well as in the daily papers, and have found that those of the largest circulation—of either class—benefited me the most."

—John Jacob Astor.
The Swallow left its late Baltimore papers, the H. D. Meers, Grey Eagle, Ohio No. 2, Fairy Queen, and Courier, Cincinnati papers, for which we tender thanks.

The next regular lecture before the "Washingtonian Association" of Pomero, will be delivered by Charles Smart, Esq., at the Presbyterian Church, on Thursday evening, March 1st.

By order,
W. J. PRALL, President.

The splendid little steamer, J. J. Cadot, built expressly for the trade, is now plying regularly between Gallipolis and Parkersburg. She has clever and accommodating officers, and travelers, as well as those having freight to ship, will doubtless be honorably dealt with. See advertisement.

"The Ladies' Repository" is as chaste and unassuming as ever, and is still as worthy as ever. What a treasure it is to a family circle. It breathes moral sentiments, and teaches lessons of Faith, Hope and Charity. We cannot conceive how a family could dispense with it after having once received it. Published by Swormstedt & Poe, Cincinnati, Ohio. All M. E. Ministers are authorized agents.

"The Atlantic Monthly," under the management of Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, Boston, portends a complete success in its great aims. Professing a devotion to literature, art and politics, it must, of necessity, embrace a great scope, and the labor on it is immense. The contents of the March number, like all of its predecessors, cannot fail to instruct all who take an interest in either of the great branches its pages embrace. Terms—$3.00 per year, postage prepaid. Five copies, one year, subscribers paying postage, $5.00.

Prof. C. B. Hitchcock.
So well known to this community, as a progressive musical instructor, is now giving lessons to a large class in Rutland, and we understand will give a concert at that place in about two or three weeks, assisted by the Musical Association of Pomero. It will certainly be a magnificent affair.

We are obliged to the Professor for a couple of his own productions, published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, one entitled, "O, Dearest, Gentle Maid;" the other, "The Dying Wife," the words to which (by Isabel Ashton), we copy on our outside. These and other productions will be furnished to those who desire them by Mr. Hitchcock.

"The Home Magazine" for March, has come to hand, and is exceedingly attractive. The beautiful steel engraving of the "Twin Sleepers," is worth half a year's subscription. The fashion plates and drawings are splendid, and could not help interesting the ladies. Arthur's Ladies' Home Magazine has many excellencies and attractions that no other similar publication can compete with, and which have given it a popularity and circulation that is exceedingly flattering to the accomplished publishers. Price, $2 per year in advance. Address T. S. Arthur & Co., 323, Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.—Jackson Standard.

"Harpers' New Monthly Magazine" contains sketches of "Life among the Loggers," "A Peep at the Elephant," which is very interesting to those who have a taste for learning the customs of animals, and the manner of entrapping the same. "The Coins in America" is very instructive, as well as useful. To give the contents of the present number would occupy at least a column, and we have not time to give such a notice, had we the inclination. The best way for our readers to find out its contents is to subscribe. Terms—one copy one year, $3.00; two copies, $5.00; three or more copies one year, $2.00 each.

We learn from the Memphis Appeal, Tuesday, that the bill for the expulsion of free negroes from the State, which passed the Mississippi House of Representatives, was defeated in the Senate. The Legislature adjourned sine die, on Saturday, February 11th.

The defeat of the similar oppressive bill, now pending before the Legislature of Tennessee, is considered certain.—Cincinnati Commercial.

LATEST NEWS.
We are under special obligations to V. B. Horton, Jr., Agent of the "Cala-way Mining Company," of Pomero, for late New York papers. He brought them through in thirty-six hours.

The papers themselves do not contain anything late from the Hungarian, which was wrecked on Cape Sable, half a mile off the shore of Cape Sable, but Mr. Horton informs us that reports had reached Baltimore that her Clearance papers had been found, and by them it was ascertained that three hundred and four passengers had sailed on the ill-fated vessel, instead of thirty-six as had formerly been reported.

We are also indebted to Mr. Horton for the following:
The locomotive and tender on the Marietta & Cincinnati Railroad ran off the track on Saturday evening, a few miles west of Marietta, injuring the Engineer severely. It is supposed that some villain had taken up a rail of the track.—The Engineer discovered it in time to check the train, and prevented the passenger cars reaching the gap, or many lives might have been lost.

Overland Mail News.
The Overland mail coach, with regular San Francisco dates to the 3d inst., and telegraphic advices to the evening of the 4th, passed here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.
There was no improvement in business at San Francisco.

It is stated that Capt. Jarboes' company of mounted rangers, numbering 20 men, have killed about 200 Indians and taken as many more prisoners within a few months, in Mendocino. No ranger had been killed.
Ex-Governor Weller and Senator Latham are vigorously supported by different wings of the Democratic party as candidates to head the delegation to Charleston.

DIED.
On Tuesday evening, November 15th, 1859, at Bashan, Meigs County, Ohio, Mr. JOHN MAXON MCKENZIE, in his thirty-sixth year.

Thy memory, my brother, dear,
Still lingers in my heart,
And causes of the flowing tear
And bitter sigh to start.
Methinks I hear thy lovely voice,
Attuned to sweetest song,
Call from afar, "Come and rejoice
Amid the heavenly throng."
My brother, dear, thine image fair
No longer greets mine eyes;
But unto God I breathe a prayer—
To meet thee in the skies,
And hear thy voice, that now is still
To all thy friends below;
Learn the song, the joy to feel,
That mortals may not know.
My brother, dear, we love thee yet,
Though thou from earth hast gone;
Nor can our saddened hearts forget
Thy loved and cherished one.

My brother, dear, when youth was thine,
When hope's enlivening ray
Gleamed brightly on thy spirit's shrine,
Death summoned thee away.
Oh what a sad yet glorious hour,
When thou wert called to die,
Thou trusted in the heavenly power—
Thy spirit soared on high.
My brother, dear, the angel throng,
Who praise God night and day,
Have welcomed thee to join their song,
While I, a wanderer stay,
But hope to join that happy band,
Upon yon blissful shore,
And dwell in that immortal land,
Where parting is no more.
Oester, Meigs Co., O. D. M. GAREN.

For the Pomero Weekly Telegraph.
Dear Telegraph—I, with many other Republicans, have been rejoicing over the visit of the Legislatures of Kentucky and Tennessee to the Legislature of Ohio, and at the interchange of good feeling and patriotism which took place on that occasion. I rejoiced that, at last, there had been a Union meeting made up of live men, and not of broken down politicians, as is generally the case. But I was somewhat disappointed, on looking over the Telegraph, to learn that the "Member from Meigs," "not supposing the Union to be in danger, at least from the act of his, felt constrained to vote against any such doings," and so the people of Meigs County were not represented on that occasion. Now, when we consider that the gentleman has published the misdoings and fanatical freaks of the South, and commented on them in articles equally inflammatory, it is to be regretted that he did not write, with others, to allay the excitement and ill-feeling which exists between the two sections of our country. True, he was not elected to attend such gatherings, and as a free man has a perfect right to oppose them, but I only regret that he views the matter as he does. In another column of the Telegraph is a communication from "Civis," who, it seems, is very indignant because the Representatives of three adjoining States get together and have a good time. "Civis" thinks that because certain Governors and Legislators did thus and so, in matters concerning citizens of their own States, therefore the Legislature of Ohio should have given them the "cold shoulder," on their banter to visit Ohio. I presume "Civis" is one of those persons who think that the best way to get to Heaven is to take a copy of Help's book and travel South. Now is it necessary, in order to elect a Republican President in 1860, for the Republican newspapers and orators to harp continually on the wrong and foolish acts of our Southern brethren? Are not the great principles of our party sufficient of themselves, to carry an election? I think that they are, and regret very much that there is a disposition at the North to magnify every fanciful act of the South, and blow over it, as a matter endangering the whole country.—Surely, the Republican party, with its noble principles, can afford to be generous, which is much better than being spiteful. At least, so thinks your subscriber.

Terrible Catastrophe—Forty-Nine Children Drowned.
From the Quincy (Illinois) Herald.
We learn that a most terrible calamity, rivalling that of the Pemberton Mill, occurred on Tuesday last, near the town of Quincy, in Illinois, on the Illinois river, and about twenty-five miles above Alton. Fifty school children in attendance at a university at that place, went out upon the ice to play. The ice gave way, and with one exception, all were lost. Our informant was unable to give further particulars, he represents that the village was a scene of universal mourning, all the children were in it having lost one or more of their mothers.

A Trophy.
C. H. Grosvenor, Esq., of Athens, has contributed to the State cabinet of military relics, an old English Tower Musket picked up on the battle field of Saratoga after Burgoyne's surrender, during the Revolution, by Lt. Col. Thos. Grosvenor, of the 2d Regiment Connecticut Militia. The gun has been kept in the Grosvenor family since that time until its contribution to the State cabinet, showing the store they set by it, and the wisdom with which they regard the legacy. I think that they are, and regret very much that there is a disposition at the North to magnify every fanciful act of the South, and blow over it, as a matter endangering the whole country.—Surely, the Republican party, with its noble principles, can afford to be generous, which is much better than being spiteful. At least, so thinks your subscriber.

Additional Foreign News per Steamer Europa.
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The foreign mails, per steamer Europa, arrived here this morning, and shortly thereafter, the steamer Vigo, from Liverpool, arrived, with the mails of the 8th inst., not so late as the dates by the Europa, but yet embracing many items of interest not yet received, owing to the loss of the mails of that date in the steamer Hungarian.
THE LATEST BY TELEGRAPH TO QUEENSTOWN.
Trent was stormed and captured on Feb. 24, by the Spaniards, after a fierce and sanguinary attack and desperate resistance. The loss on both sides was comparatively immense. One transport, containing 27 wounded Spanish officers, arrived at Algeciras.

The artillery, cavalry and all the camp equipment of the Moorish army had been taken. The brother of the Emperor had died in a previous battle on the 31st of January. The Moors commenced by a fierce attack on the Spanish advanced posts, being repulsed, and again and again returning with increased fury to the attack, and finally closing with the hand, and obstinately disputing every foot of ground until finally defeated.

A letter from Milan says we continue to receive afflicting news from Venice. The Austrians have sent off to the fortresses of Moravia and the Danube two trains, including one hundred and eighty persons in chains, arrested on suspicion of feeling a love for their country, not having undergone any form of trial. Fresh arrests are being made in all the towns of Venice. Every day acts of violence are committed in provocation, in order to force the people to resist by which to have a pretext for venting Austrian rage.

The Lost Steamer Hungarian.
HALIFAX, Feb. 24.—Telegraphic communication with Barrington was re-established this morning, but there was no additional information relative to the Hungarian.
The Post Master General Woodgate has ordered the mails to be brought to Halifax to be arranged, as the bags are burst and letters lost.

The following is the latest news from the scene of the wreck:
BARRINGTON, Feb. 24, 9 P. M.—Thos. Nickerson informs me that on Monday morning, at 3 o'clock, he saw from the mainland a steamer's light.
It was stationary for some time, and he supposed she had struck on the Horse Rake, about two miles off the Cape. At daylight a large steamer was seen ashore, with one mast standing. He thinks he saw men on it when it went over, which was soon after daylight.

The report has reached me that the steward's pocket-book has been picked up, having some passengers names for "extras." I will inquire into it and report. On Wednesday the body of a child was found, and yesterday, that of a man, supposing to be a freeman. The coroner is attending to them. Portions of the mail and cargo are yet being picked up.

One of the "Scare" Letters.
The following letter, purporting to have been written by a prominent Wisconsin Democrat, is among the documents laid before the Harper's Ferry Investigating Committee of the Senate.—It is authoritatively pronounced a forgery, and the alleged author offers a reward for the detection of the perpetrator of this rascality. The document, and the careful manner in which it has been kept from the public, illustrate not only the means by which Wisconsin badly frightened, but also the genteel treatment with which Democrats, apparently implicated, have been treated:
JANESVILLE, WIS., Nov. 23, 1859.
DEAR CAPTAIN: I am personally unknown to you, but I write to tell you to keep up good courage, don't despair of deliverance.

Five hundred good men and true are now leaving for Charleston from this State, and are ready to do battle with the bound-hill slaves; they leave in small squads to avoid any suspicion, but will be on hand in time, with the Ohio thousands. We will be enough for them. I think. Keep up your spirits and rely on your friends.

Yours in the good cause,
A. HYATT SMITH.
We find the public cautioned to be on their guard about taking photographs five-dollar notes on the Union Bank of Tennessee, redeemable at Memphis, as it is understood that a large amount of these notes in circulation, and so accurately executed as to deceive good judges, unless inspected closely. By observing the following, every one will be enabled to detect the photographed note: "On the face of the genuine bills are in red letters; while on the photographed notes the letters are dark brown or nearly black." The bills are well calculated to deceive even those who readily detect counterfeit, but by bearing in mind what we have said above, we think the citizenry gain will be limited.—Cincinnati Gazette.
